New York State has designated the month of June "Pollinator Month." The Horticultural Alliance of the Hamptons cordially invites you to participate in a pollinator poetry party in honor of this designation.

Calling all poets and poet wannabes!

Create a poem about pollinators...on your own, with a friend, or with a group.

Think about bees, butterflies, birds, native plants, oak trees, Professor Tallamy, loss of habitat and host plants, reducing lawns and use of pesticides.

Prepare to present your poem...on your own, with a friend, or with a group.

To register as a presenter click HERE to email Joan DiMonda.

And calling all poem lovers, too!

Come share your love of pollinators and celebrate the creativity of our poets!

Questions? Click HERE to email Joan.
